Turnitin Training Conducted to Prevent Plagiarism

JAKARTA - Lemhannas RI held Turnitin Training for Taskap (Individual Working Paper) tutors on Friday (21/6), in the Pancasila Room, Trigatra Building, Lemhannas RI. This training aims to prevent plagiarism practices among Lemhannas RI education participants.

Deputy for National-Level Leaders Education of Lemhannas RI, Air Vice Marshal Andi Heru Wahyudi emphasized the importance of avoiding plagiarism. "Plagiarism is the act of taking someone else's work and recognizing it as your own work. This violates academic ethics and is detrimental to the learning process," he said.

Overcoming these challenges, Lemhannas RI trained Taskap tutors in the use of Turnitin, a web-based software that helps detect plagiarism and increase the originality of Individual Working Paper.

With the results from Turnitin, taskap tutors can provide constructive suggestions about improving structure, writing style, and argument logic. Taskap tutors can also guide education participants in understanding and applying academic writing ethics, including the correct way to cite sources.

Lemhannas RI now has its own Turnitin software with the web address <https://lemhannas.turnitin.com>. "It is hoped that taskap tutors can understand the process and make good use of it," Andi Heru Wahyudi said.

The tutors received an explanation to use Turnitin from the Young Expert Policy Analyst of Directorate of Defense, Security, and Geography of Lemhannas RI, Nety Nurda, S.Kom., M.T., Ph.D., as administrator of Turnitin Lemhannas RI, and the Turnitin Team Muhammad David Lung. Taskap tutors will be registered as users on the Lemhannas RI Turnitin website, allowing them to submit and check the entire Taskap writing.
